The 8th Loser Prologue

In 1999 a terrible monster called IT that takes the form of a demonic clown terrorized the small town Derry in Maine. IT fed off of peoples fear and consumed every single child it could possibly get its hands on. You see this awful demon returns every 17 years back to this exact town in order to feed and commit it's heinous acts.

But back then IT wasn't allowed to go unchecked. For the first time ever a group of children from all different backgrounds in that town banded together to combat IT after one of them lost their younger sibling to it. Together they managed to land a humiliating defeat to IT and force the monster back into the crevice whence it came a hell of a lot earlier than originally intended much to IT's infinite displeasure.

Now IT back and more than happy to wreak havoc and make his revenge on those who have both escaped and defied him.

Now 17 years have passed and despite the hopes from the Losers Club that the creature was gone for good IT has arisen from hibernation once more to continue the reign of terror that was cut short the last time.

But that's not as easy as it first sounds.

In the almost three decades the Losers Club has dispersed and gone their separate ways.

Originally it's assumed that there were seven members that belong to this tight fellowship known as the Losers Club. In reality there is an eighth addition to this tightknit group of friends.

Her name is Constance, Connie for short.

Like the others Constance was victimized by Pennywise that has left lingering damage from trauma.

Loretta is strong and has worked through those problems to the point where they are practically nonexistent.

Just as the majority of the Losers Club have Loretta formed a life all her own. Believe it or not Loretta actually enlisted in the military when she became old enough to join.

Loretta became a diligent and dedicated soldier, serving her country well. So much that a top secret military organization took notice.

The G.I. Joe Team where here Constance goes by Tigress. Her rank and codename because of her fierceness in the heat of battle both against their enemy's along with the initial desire to protect her comrades and the innocent.

A top secret military network with people recruited from all across the world that handles operations that concerns the entire world, not just one nation. Basically when all else fails the Joe's don't.

And neither will Constance.

Authors Note:

September 11th has come and gone once again. I was very young when it happened. Don't know about all of you, but I certainly was really scared. One minute I was at elementary school in class and the next my parents are pulling me out, taking my little sister and I home. That's when we learned the truth. The Twin Towers we'd see all the time whenever we traveled outside the city limits on road trips would no longer be there. We were stunned when we'd seen them destroyed on TV. Those trips were never the same again just like the lives of millions. In honor for the people that fell that day and to those still struggling to survive from the aftermath I suggest a moment of respective silence. I think we all can use that.

Hope you all like this one! I certainly did while writing it for your vast enjoyment! ;D

I've been meaning to upload this one for a while and only now I've managed to find time and inspiration for it. I'm very satisfied and happy about it. Now I know this is an unusual mixer, but I hope you all do like it.

Also, which actress would you recommend for the cover image to this story. I'm really stumped on that and am open to suggestions. So have at it. The one who gives me the actress chosen for this role will have one question answered pertaining to this story. So I advise that you choose wisely on both fronts.

Big time heads up! Article 13 is on the move again. Our freedom of speech is seriously on the line. Find a legitimate petition that is fighting this decision and sign onto it. Every signature counts to keep what we love alive.

I recently put up some other works I've put out at titled Secret Of Bristol Cove, Predators Redemption, A Revolutionary Romance, Fantine Tezla: Hot Wheels Acceleracers, Magic And the Brave Little Toaster 1, Lavinia: Princess Of Edelweiss, Rorschach's Legend, and Nuala: The White Lioness. I highly recommend them. ;D

By the way Rorschach's Legend is the newest addition to my profile. If you're a fan of Watchmen and the new series on HBO coming up soon then I recommend that you check it out. Since it was just recently uploaded I really would enjoy hearing other peoples thoughts on the subject matter so far. So feel free to do so if you have the time.

I have other grand news! I was a patron at New York Comic Con! Ah! I'd been dying to go for years and now I had the opportunity. The Jokers from Impractical Jokers have been here along with Tom Hiddleston and so many others. Over those few days I actually got my picture taken with a couple of other actors/actresses and some really great panels. It really is so exciting there. This is an opportunity of a lifetime so there's no way in hell that I was going to waste a single second of it. No one ever should with something like this. Ever! ;D

For future preferences I highly recommend that you all keep an eye out for when tickets for New York Comic Con are available for purchase again for next year. This is a huge event and you should jump on it whenever you have the chance.
